1.  Course Description
Thai 101 is the continuation of Thai 101, emphasizing reading, writing, listening and speaking modern standard Thai. Structural points are introduced inductively. In lieu of language lab, students are required to practice reading, writing, and listening via WAU.

Regular attendance is crucial. Unauthorized absence of 5 classes will result in lowering of one letter grade. Tardiness exceeding 10 minutes without reasons will be treated as absence. Students must be well-prepared for classroom activities.

Students should visit the main web page of UH Thai Language Program for useful information related to fellowships, study abroad, etc. http://www.hawaii.edu/thai/
The website www.hawaii.edu/thai/tech.htm is essential for Thai language IT resources: links to Thai fonts, online Thai-Eng/Eng-Thai dictionaries, etc.

Objectives
At the end of the semester, students should be able to:
- Carry on a simple conversation in Thai using words and structural patterns learned in Beginning Thai, and appropriate language introduced in class.
- Read most material in Thai script with correct pronunciation.
- Write words, phrases, and paragraphs using the Thai writing system.

2.  Texts
Required:
- Thai Language and Culture for Beginners by Yupaphann Hoonchamlong
- AUA Language Center Thai Course Reading and Writing-Mostly Reading
- AUA Language Center Thai Course Reading and Writing-Mostly Writing

Recommended as reference: Thai-English Student's Dictionary by Mary Haas,
Stanford University Press, from Amazon.com or accessed via Thai Program web site

3.  Structure of the course
- Three contact hours a week emphasizing on listening and speaking, and two contact hours emphasizing on reading and writing Thai scripts.
- Students are expected to access WAU for additional work on reading, writing and listening daily. Time spent on activities will be monitored and credited.
- Students will participate actively during drill sessions.
- Supplementary material is treated the same as lessons.
